-  Low power consumption

X-Gate is a system that includes receivers for digital terrestrial and satellite TV, with a software player for Windows and support for the Amino A110 set top box. After connecting the receivers to an aerial or satellite dish and your network, you just need to tell them to search for TV channels just like a TV set. You decide which channels are streamed to your network and the desktop TV player and Amino A110 STB will discover them automatically.
