IPTV from Netvue at Delta Tre Media

IPTV is the convergence of television distribution with IT data network infrastructure. IPTV has rapidly become the industry standard for TV and audio-visual distribution around buildings.

Delta Tre Media bought an IPTV system from Netvue in 2008 as part of the infrastructure in their new UK headquarters in Wimbledon. The IPTV system is used to distribute live broadcast TV and in-house video content throughout the building.

Large steerable satellite dishes on the roof are used to capture TV signals from sporting events across Europe and these signals are encoded as IPTV channels. A Freeview TV Gateway converts domestic broadcast TV channels into IPTV for distribution as well.

Benefits of IPTV

- IPTV uses the existing computer network - no new cables, no hassle!

- TV available from any network point throughout the business
