IPTV from Netvue at The Farm Group

IPTV is the convergence of television distribution with IT data network infrastructure. IPTV has rapidly become the industry standard for TV and audio-visual distribution around buildings.

The Farm Group has six sites across London and uses IPTV as part of the IT wide-area network (WAN) infrastructure linking these sites. This allows them to distribute broadcast television and their own material within buildings and also broadcast to all of the sites.

Netvue provided the original IPTV head-end and IPTV receivers at Uncle allowing them to avoid the expense of new co-ax cabling for TV distribution and also allowing them to send video to other sites across the WAN. Later we installed further head-end equipment at a second of The Farm Group's sites, providing resilience for the off-air signal sources, and adding another source of internally produced material to the IPTV system.

Netvue's IPTV expertise

Netvue specialises in IPTV and Video on Demand systems, with the addition of Digital Signage where desired as an enhancement to the IPTV channels. By concentrating on just these technologies we have built-up great expertise in this field.
